DOUBT STILL EXISTS.

The Sheriff's Fee Bill May Not Become Law.

SIGNING IMPERFECT.

The Signature of the Speaker of the House Not to the Bill—Many Measures Yet to Be Passed upon by the Governor.

Austin, A. P. 11.—The governor was busy all yesterday in going over the big batch of bills sent to him during the closing hours of the Twenty-seventh legislature. He found that the sheriff's fee bill had not been signed by the speaker of the house. The bill amended the act of 1897 and was intended to increase some of the sheriff's fees.

Section 38 of article 8, of the constitution requires that all acts shall be signed by the speaker of the house and president of the senate, in the presence of the respective houses. In the shape that it reaches the governor, the bill is probably invalid, but the governor has asked the attorney general for an opinion on the subject.

After the deluge of acts on Tuesday the governor found himself in possession of about 100 acts. He bundled the purely local laws up and sent them to the secretary of state without his signature. He still has 68 acts on hand. The governor has 20 days in which to pass upon them.

The governor approved the following bills:

To amend article prescribing the action of the supreme court upon petitions for writ of error.

An act prescribing the proceedings of the court of civil appeals in making and filing conclusions of facts and law.

An act relating to the payment of costs and returning mandates in the supreme court.

An act to incorporate the city of Fort Worth and to grant a new charter to said city.

Given a New Trial.

Austin, April 11.—The court of criminal appeals reversed and remanded the case of John Kipper, from El Paso county. The defendant is a negro soldier, indicted and convicted for the murder of an officer, when the negro soldiers stationed at Fort Bliss stormed the city jail and rescued an imprisoned comrade. The grand jury and the trial jury were composed entirely of white men and the reversal was made under the decision of the United States supreme court in the Seth Carter case.

Sues School Trustees.

Sherman, Tex., April 11.—A peculiar suit was filed here. W. N. Brown alleges that his three children have been denied admittance into district school No. 94 and he asks a writ of mandamus to compel J. C. Reasor and other trustees to allow him to send the children to said school. The petition does not state why the trustees refused the admittance of the children.

Widow Won Her Suit.

Paris, Tex., April 10.—A jury here awarded damages to Mrs. Josie Bridges in the sum of $5250 against the Santa Fe Railway company for the death of her husband, G. W. Bridges. The deceased was killed at a railroad crossing below the city. His team was killed at the same time and his wagon torn to pieces.

Negro Whipped by a Mob.

Mineral Wells, Tex., April 11.—A negro boy, 11 years old, of this place, committed an assault on a 9-year-old white girl here Tuesday, and that night some of the most prominent citizens went to where the negro was being held for safe-keeping, took him out and gave him a whipping with a rope by one of the little girl's relatives.

FORTUNE IN TEXAS.

New York, April 11.—Vladimir de Topl, imperial consul general of Russia, has received an inquiry from St. Petersburg concerning a fortune of $2,000,000 alleged to have been left by Napoleon Dembinsky in Austin, Texas. De Topl, according to the consular information was a native of Russia who came to this country many years ago and worked his way up from a poor boy.

He died about 1886 in Austin, leaving no immediate family and no relatives in this country. Relatives in Russia recently heard of his death by accident and through the American minister at St. Petersburg obtained some information.

"The Russian relatives," said the consul, "are poor people and cannot afford to go to any expense to investigate the reality of this fortune. Through the courtesy of the American minister in St. Petersburg, however, they have learned enough to satisfy them that a large estate was left and that there were no American heirs to claim it."

"The American minister has written me that he believes the property has passed into the hands of one of the Catholic churches at Austin. He sent me the name of Roods Fisher, Jr., of Austin who, he said, would be able to furnish me with detailed information on the subject."

SLAUGHTER OF PIGEONS.

New York Legislature Will Pass a Law Prohibiting Such.

Albany, April 11.—The storm of indignation over the wholesale butchery of pigeons at Interstate Park has resulted in legislation which is intended to check such exhibitions. A bill has been framed through the efforts of William Dutcher and Ralph Waldo Trine, of the American Humane society, under the provisions of which shooting of pigeons either for mere amusement or for the practice of marksmanship is made a misdemeanor. The bill also provides for the repeal of the existing law which permits clubs to shoot pigeons for practice, and under which the slaughter of birds by the Interstate Association of Marksmen was shielded from prosecution.

The bill will be introduced at once in both branches of the legislature by Assemblyman Bennett and Senator Slater of New York. Mr. Dutcher and Mr. Trine visited the governor and were assured by him of his support. It is accordingly believed that the bill will not fail of passage, because of the near approach of adjournment.

"There is a tremendous popular sentiment behind this bill," said Mr. Trine, "and were it not for the lateness of the session I would have no fears as to its passage. Reasons why the bill should become a law are overwhelming."

GIVE TO AMERICANS.

Awarded Contract for Rails for an Electric Road at Glasgow.

New York, April 11.—Private cable advices from Scotland bring the news that the Glasgow, municipal committee had recommended the awarding of a big contract to an American Steel company for the supplying of 3450 tons of rails and fishplates for the municipal street railway of Glasgow.

There will be 3000 tons of straight rails, 300 tons of curved rails and 150 tons of fishplates. The price for the rails will be $32 a ton, and the fishplates $34 a ton. The orders therefore are worth $110,700. The rails are to be used for the extension of the electric system, owned by the city itself. Fully nine-tenths of the first equipment of the road amounting to $900,000, was purchased in the United States. This rail contract will be the largest ever placed in this city for use in Great Britain. The Lorain Steel company of Ohio gets the order.

Must Pay Gambling Debt.

New York, April 11.—A jury before Justice Fitzsimmons in the city court here decided that Henry Ivson, a broker, would have to pay notes for $1000 which he gave to John Bradley, of St. Augustine, Fla. Ivson fought payment of the money on the plea that the amount sued for represented "markers" which he had lost playing roulette in a place kept by Bradley. Asked whether he would have taken Bradley's money if he had won. Ivson replied that he thought he would.

THE GREAT REVIVAL.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

The Lord God of hosts has pitched his tent in Bryan and the testimony of his presence is written in the faces of his witnesses. The tent may be old and frayed and torn by the winds, but God is there as sure as He was in the holiest of holies at the arc of the covenant. He is shining in the faces of his children and pulsing in the hearts of the unsaved who yearn to turn their faltering steps toward Him.

At the tent last night George Stuart introduced to more than 1600 people that grand man of God, the prophet Daniel, whose character towered above the dizzy walls and heathen temples of the mighty Babylon, who turned his face toward dismantled Jerusalem, put honors and position and riches aside and prayed until a heathen king acknowledged the power of the living God—the God who sent an angel to lock the lions' jaws, pillowed the head of His servant upon His arm and delivered him from the midst of the lions in their den.

The text was from Daniel 1: 8: "But Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the portion of the king's meat, nor with the wine which he drank." The sermon was a lesson in character, a plea for manliness, purpose and honesty. I like to see a man with a purpose to do something, a man who puts an estimate on himself; a man who will settle on something—one who says there are some things I will do and some I won't do. So many young men and women are drifting through the world without a purpose. One of the first things we should learn is to aim at something and go after it, and you'll most always get it. I know old saloon men and gamblers who want to hug me every time they see me. I shot into them and made them turn to God. You never get over meeting a great man or reading a great book. It awakens you to a sense of your opportunities and makes you look up higher and strive to be better. Place some value on your life and character and try to be somebody. There was no flaw in the life of Daniel. He was a 24-karat man.

It's no trouble to go with the crowd. The trouble comes standing by yourself. Ten boys march down the street; nine go in to take a drink, and one won't go. He's a man. Daniel went to Babylon a captive and declined the purple of the king's court in that great civic empire. The devil made as strong a bid for Daniel as he ever made for any man—offered him honors, position and wealth, the king's purple, his meat and his wine—but the earth and hell could not move the young prophet's purpose, and earth and heaven and hell have heard his answer. He would not defile himself. The devil has bid for you and me and whether you have sold out or not depends on where you are tonight. A man who don't live right everywhere don't live right anywhere. A man should live the same night and day, at home and abroad.

An officer is not his own man. He is the people's man. He belongs to the mothers and sisters of the boys before whom he is an example, and I long to see the time when a man who drinks can't be elected constable. I saw a young man refuse to drink with the governor of Tennessee and by so doing he turned the governor and his companions from the doors of a saloon—carried the governor on his strength of character. That young man had promised his mother on her deathbed never to go anywhere he could not take her if she were living. Don't disgrace your mother blood by running with the saloon gang. I hate to see these little political huggers who will hug anything that will push them into office. Get the office in a fair, square race if you can, and if you can't let it go and be man. I like to see a fellow so clean he can't be elected. The authorities can close the saloons on Sunday any time they want to. I would do my duty as an officer or surrender the office and go out and be a private citizen.

Robert E. Lee declined to sell his name to the old Louisiana lottery for $10,000 a year. He told them he had nothing but his name, but that his name was not for sale. Old Governor Nichols of Louisiana had only one leg, one arm and one eye, but he told the lottery people before he would sign a bill they wanted he would go to his grave with a limless trunk and eyeless sockets. Don't let the dollar get too close to you and blind you. I want to see character held above chattels and God above gold.

The only difference between playing euchre for a prize in the parlor and playing seven-up in the back of a saloon for money is that public opinion floats the first one and don't the last. You never will stop gambling until the women stop playing for prizes. Here the five ministers on the platform were called upon and testified to their knowledge of the injury cards do to the cause of Christ. Why will church members take cards in their hands? Why will they crucify the Savior to please a fashionable hostess? We don't have enough family religion these days. Men go to bed like stock. Don't leave a hole in your family altar and let your children drop into hell. When God goes ahead of a man he's all right. Make God king of your heart and he will make you a king in this world. Drop the devil and take up God.

THURSDAY MORNING.

In the face of the torrents of rain ten ladies from the various churches—Mesdames J. D. West, T. R. Batte, W. E. Astin, Paul Bradley, Ben S. Read, M. Nagle, Robt. S. Webb, W. H. Webb, F. Marion Law and Burt Norwood—visited all the saloons in the city and at the door of each asked the proprietor to close his place during the services. Their requests were given a respectful hearing by all and a majority of the dealers complied by closing.

The Baptist church was crowded again to hear the morning sermon. The text was from the Psalms: "Serve the Lord with gladness." Be jovial and kind; don't kick and complain. Christianity ought to be an example of good humor. Sometimes the world thinks Christians are the greatest kickers. I knew an old colored man with both legs cut smack off who made his living shining shoes. With a smile of perfect happiness and contentment, he said to me, "I never kick." Serving God is to do the thing Christ would do if he were here. There are two practical ways to serve God: Help a saint and save a sinner. Christianity is always for the other fellow. As soon as a man gets saved he wants somebody else saved. Attending church and prayer meeting and secret and family prayer are a means of grace for feeding the soul that we may have strength to serve Him. Christianity is unselfishness and hell is selfishness on fire. If you want to get into heaven start one here and continue it up yonder. If you do right you are certain to feel right. A big sinner is easier saved than a little one. The little moral fellow wants to clean up a little at a time, while the big sinner knows he's got to go in all over to get clean. When a fellow turns his back on sin and becomes a friend of Christ instead of the devil, I know he's surrendered to God whether he says anything or not. He's not looking for an experience; he's looking for Christ, and he's ready to lay down an unholy life and take up Christ. This sermon made the process of salvation very simple, and was exceedingly forcible. At the close the first invitation for penitents was extended and scores responded.

Wife Wrecks the Saloon in Which Her Husband Was Employed.

Knoxville, April 11.—After the fashion of Mrs. Carrie Nation, Mrs. John Payne smashed a saloon in which her husband is employed, and threatened to stand at the door and prevent any customers from entering as long as he worked there. The proprietor dismissed Payne, whereupon she entered suit for divorce from her wife. The court enjoined Mrs. Payne from further smashing and her husband has returned to work, but he will continue his efforts to secure a divorce. He alleges that Mrs. Nation's example had inspired his wife to interfere with his occupation and that he can no longer live in peace with her.

THE TRIAL OF RIPLEY

Sensational Evidence Given by Mr.
Bradley Is Corroborated.

SUSTAINED BY YOST.

The Testimony of the Judge Differed
None from That of Bradley.
The Other Witnesses Were Not Very Important.

Frankfort, April 11.—When the trial of Garnett D. Ripley, charged with the murder of William Goebel, was resumed today the defendant came into court accompanied by his wife and looking cheerful. The court granted an order on the Western Union Telegraph office at Eminence, to produce all telegrams sent and received by Ripley last year.

J. W. Ferguson, a laborer, who worked for Ripley last year, said he had been in meetings at Frankfort and heard Ripley say while Goebel might be declared governor he never would serve. Ripley also said Goebel should have been killed when he killed Sanford and applied vile epithets in referring to Goebel.

The defense on cross examination developed that Ferguson was not certain whether the conversation occurred prior to the November election or in January as he had stated.

William Crawford, who followed Ferguson, testified the conversation was in January.

Judge W. A. Yost, who assisted ex-Gov. Bradley as counsel for ex-Governor Taylor last year, corroborated the testimony of Bradley, given Wednesday afternoon. On Jan. 25, the day the mountain men were here, he saw Bradley in conversation with a man. He could not hear what the first party said, but heard Bradley say: "It is a damnable outrage. If anything of that kind is to occur, I will go with Goebel into the state-house myself." Bradley then told him that he had been told three men were waiting to kill Goebel as he entered the yard. Bradley and Yost then hunted up Charles Finley and others and told them what they had heard. Finley said nothing of the sort was intended or would occur.

After the shooting, Judge Yost said, on one occasion Ripley complained of the indignity he had received at the hands of Taylor and Ripley also related to him his conversation with Taylor related by Governor Bradley Wednesday in which Taylor told him Goebel would not live 24 hours longer. Judge Yost says he advised Ripley against repeating the statement.

Colonel Jack Chinn, Senator Johnson and Civil Engineer Woodson also testified their testimony was only such as heretofore been told.

THE GOEBEL MURDER.
Ex-Governor Bradley Gives Testimony That Is Sensational.

Frankfort, April 11.—Ex-Governor W. O. Bradley, who was chief counsel for ex-Governor W. S. Taylor in the gubernatorial contest case before the legislature last year, gave sensational testimony yesterday in the trial of Capt. Garnett D. Ripley, who is charged with conspiring with others to bring about the murder of William Goebel. Mr. Bradley detailed a conversation which he had with Captain Ripley while the latter was in charge of his military company during the occupancy of the state capitol by the Taylor troops last spring in which Ripley told him of the conferences with Governor Taylor prior to the assassination. Witness said that Ripley told him he was in the executive office on the day before the shooting and complained to Taylor because he had not called out his (Ripley's) company and asked him when he should have the company ready. Taylor replied:

"My God, have't you brought them yet? Goebel will not live 24 hours' or 'cannot live 24 hours.' I have forgotten which he said," declared the witness.

Judge W. A. Yost, assistant counsel with Bradley in the contest case, according to the witness, was present and heard the conversation. In response to a question as to whether witness heard of any conspiracy to kill Mr. Goebel, the witness stated that on Jan. 25, the day the trainload of mountaineers arrived, some one, he could not recall who, told him that the parties in the crowd were waiting in front of the state house to kill Goebel.

"I said," continued the witness, "it shall be stopped. I will go in the senate chamber and come out with Goebel and see that he is not hurt or insulted. I looked and saw Wharton Golden and told him to get Finley, Culton and others and send them to me. He said 'Goebel is not going to be hurt.' Culton and Finley told me it was a fake and that there was nothing in it; they condemned violence as I did."

"Why did you send for Culton, Finley and the other men?"

"Because I thought they knew the mountain men."

The defense asked witness if he knew anything of any connection of Ripley with these.

Governor Bradley said Ripley had none so far as he knew.

When asked if Ripley's company had not been disbanded at this time, the witness said he thought it was disbanded about that time.

Other witnesses were examined, but the testimony brought out was along the line of that produced in the trials of Powers and others.
